Part X, Line 2:

BayLegal is exempt from taxation under Internal Revenue Code Section 501(c)(3) and California Revenue and Taxation Code Section 23701d.

Generally accepted accounting principles provide accounting and disclosure guidance about positions taken by an organization in its tax returns that might be uncertain. Management has considered its tax positions and believes that all of the positions taken by BayLegal in their federal and state exempt organization tax returns are more likely than not to be sustained upon examination. BayLegal's returns are subject to examination by federal and state taxing authorities, generally for three and four years, respectively, after they are filed.

Form 990, Part III, Line 1, Description of Organization Mission:

Bay Area Legal Aid's (BayLegal) services impact clients in significant ways, including preventing homelessness, establishing safety and protection from abuse for domestic violence victims and their children, securing vital healthcare services to treat physical and mental health conditions, and securing income or alleviating predatory debt to help individuals and families living in poverty to provide for food, rent, and other life necessities. Often, BayLegal resolves multiple interconnected issues for families to improve their overall self-sufficiency and quality of life. BayLegal impacts the community through extensive outreach and education, technical assistance provided to other community and governmental agencies, systemic advocacy, and impact litigation.

The following client story provides a brief example of how BayLegal's services change lives:

oA BayLegal client had lost their employment for Covid-related reasons, could no longer afford private health insurance, and began incurring out of pocket expenses for necessary medical appointments. The client's prescription medications were running out and they had an urgent need for health coverage. They faced difficulties applying for health coverage through both Covered California and Medi-Cal, where approval processes had stalled because of a fraud investigation of an identity theft several years earlier in which someone had tried to unlawfully claim their benefits and as a result there were pandemic-related delays in getting meetings and hearings scheduled.

BayLegal initiated expedited processes to resolve the issue before it resulted in negative health impacts for the client.

BayLegal requested a State Fair Hearing and worked with the Medi-Cal Appeals Officer and Covered California Analyst assigned to the case. As a result of BayLegal's advocacy, the county approved the client's Medi-Cal benefits retroactive to the beginning of the year. Client received expedited enrollment with Kaiser in time to make necessary medical appointments, obtain associated lab work, and to refill prescriptions. We estimate the value of benefits secured through this case at $25,000.

BayLegal balances direct individual services with systemic work to address the root causes of issues harming low-income residents and extend our impact far beyond the tens of thousands of individual clients and family members we directly serve each year. By working directly with clients, BayLegal develops expert knowledge of the problems that cause poor people harm and impede their struggle for self-sufficiency. BayLegal's systemic work is informed by our work with individual clients, and includes impact litigation, legislative and administrative advocacy, and training, technical assistance and policy development for agencies that administer housing, healthcare, and benefits programs for the Bay Area's low-income residents.

The following description provides an example of how BayLegal's systemic advocacy work has widespread impact:

oThe Affordable Care Act expanded eligibility for Medicaid (Medi-Cal in CA) health care services in states that elected to do so. California chose to expand eligibility for Medi-Cal, effective January 1, 2014. By mid-2014 California had accrued a significantly large backlog of applications and applicants had to wait more than 45 days for eligibility determinations. Applicants who were caught in the backlog were left with no health coverage and no way to obtain an eligibility determination. They either went without needed health services or incurred medical debt for services that would have been covered by Medi-Cal had their applications been timely decided. By September 2014, there was a backlog of approximately 350,000 delayed applications. Low-income San Francisco Bay Area residents were among those waiting on the delayed eligibility determinations.

On September 17, 2014, Bay Area Legal Aid along with several other legal aid programs and a private attorney, filed a lawsuit against the State. After much litigation and a positive ruling and remand from the CA Supreme Court, the parties arrived at an agreement in 2021 on the issues of the case in which the State:

1. Acknowledged that it has a legal duty to ensure that eligibility determinations in these Medi-Cal cases are issued within 45 days, absent specific exceptions provided by law.
2. Agreed that applicants who appear eligible be granted temporary full Medi-Cal benefits coverage in real time (no delay) pending verification of income or other eligibility information.
3. Agreed that applicants who do not qualify for temporary Medi-Cal and whose applications will not be decided within the required 45 days receive a written notice of their right to a state administrative hearing challenging the delay and where they can prove eligibility.

The impact of this case is significant for low-income Californians.

Compliance with the settlement terms will prevent future such backlogs.

It will enable thousands of low-income people in California to obtain critically needed health care timely.

BayLegal also works in collaboration with public systems to remove barriers to healthcare and benefits access, and design systems, change regulations and procedures to better meet client needs. A significant example of this work from 2021 is:

oBayLegal led advocacy efforts with Alameda Health System (AHS) to address their failure to implement mandatory charity care policies under California law. Rather than offering available free or reduced cost care to low-income individuals who lacked sufficient insurance and AHS was instead referring these individuals to collection and litigation. BayLegal's advocacy with AHS resulted in the dismissal of dozens of hospital debt collection lawsuits. BayLegal represented a client who was sued by a debt collector for a county hospital debt. The client should have been eligible for free or reduced cost care under the hospital's state-mandated "charity care" policies but was not notified of the right to apply for this relief. BayLegal not only got a dismissal of the lawsuit against our client but also exposed broader problems through a Public Records Act request to the AHS about their charity care policies and use of third-party debt collectors to collect hospital debt. As a result of BayLegal's advocacy, AHS ordered the third-party debt collector to dismiss all its pending lawsuits on AHS hospital debt. AHS ceased debt collection lawsuits for AHS hospital debt and will provide greater access to medical debt forgiveness through reform of AHS's charity care policies.

Whether directly engaged in alleviating the costs of poverty and returning financial assets to low-income families and communities or addressing conditions of safety and security that in turn make participation in safety net programs, work, and economic activity more accessible to survivors of interpersonal violence, BayLegal's services ultimately work to interrupt the legal inequities that can underlie and reinforce long-term cycles of poverty. Recent studies have confirmed that investing in legal services is a cost-effective means of solving issues faced by low-income people, and our own data confirms that every dollar invested in our annual budget has produced between $1.50 and $3.30 in economic benefits to low-income families in each of the past three years. While BayLegal continues to strategically develop its programs to ensure it is responsive to the ongoing and emerging needs of the diverse populations it serves, the receipt of flexible funding is increasingly important to ensure high quality services to low-income people and communities, ensuring fairness for all in the justice system.
