Will a check be written directly to residents?

Keep People Housed will send checks to landlords or third-party providers who provide a valid W-9. If landlord is unable to provide W-9, further problem solving will be made available.

If a resident has already submitted an application to one organization, can they go to the other organizations for further support?

All Keep People Housed agencies work together to review and address each unique situation. Once an application is submitted, each household is treated as a single entry across the coordinated system. Numerous duplicate applications will not help.

What is Housing Problem Solving & how will it help?

Housing Problem Solving supports rapid resolution to housing crises for people with unstable housing, including light ongoing support to make sure the solution 'sticks.'

Problem Solving works with participants to identify options, overcome barriers, develop resolution plans, and carry them out, focusing on the root of the problem. Flexible financial assistance can be administered to support a housing option.

Problem Solving includes follow-up with tenants and landlords as needed to address additional barriers to remaining housed.

DOCUMENTATION

What documentation is required to receive financial assistance?

- ♥ Completed application, with documentation of a Housing Crisis (eviction notice, notice to vacate, termination letter from employer, etc.)
- ♥ ID or other proof of identity
- ♥ Proof of Income
- ♥ 3-day notice, unlawful detainer filings, etc.
- ♥ W-9 from landlord or new lease agreement
